Nevada Private Sector Business Establishment Openings Trending Up; Outpacing U.S. as a Whole

- Among other things, the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Business Employment Dynamics Program allows us to look at Nevada's relative performance as it pertains to business establishment openings.
- Nevada's labor market has experienced growth since bottoming out in 2010. Since then, trends in business establishment openings have seen stronger growth than in the nation as a whole. In the United States, there were 432,000 new businesses during the first quarter of 2018 up 13 percent from the beginning of the recovery.
- During the first quarter of 2018, Nevada had 4,530 new business establishments. This is up approximately 44 percent from the beginning of 2011, when the labor market first showed signs of expansion. Openings have exceeded 4,000 in each of the past eight quarters.
- Most importantly, underlying trends in business openings show that growth has been fairly consistent over time. These results highlight the improvement in Nevada, both in absolute terms, and relative to the U.S. as a whole.
